

Criteria

The 230,000 members of AARP Maine are looking for a volunteer leader.

We are currently accepting applications for State President--- AARP's top volunteer position in Maine. A visionary leader – with a passion for issues that impact people as they age – is needed to motivate our members, volunteers, general public and elected officials.

The ideal candidate:

- Has a record of achievement in either community service or their professional careers;
- Has knowledge and a passion for at least one of AARP's priority issues (Economic Security, Health Security, and Livable Communities) and a willingness to take a leadership role on that issue;
- Has an extensive network with key leaders in government, and the public and private sectors;
- Is able to manage, motivate and lead our volunteer Executive Council ;
- Is a strong public speaker;
- Is willing to take a leadership role in strengthening our volunteer corps and local chapters;
- Is capable of developing a strong working partnership with the State Director.

Time commitment is flexible and varies. Some travel is required, both intrastate and interstate. Reimbursements for expenses are available.
